BOOKMARK

Dear Friends,

If you have been traveling during the summer, I want to welcome you back to Punta Gorda to share some wonderful news with you. And, for those of you who stayed in town, I have news for you, too.

In April we greeted our new librarian, LeAnn Beckwith, a professional dedicated to making our library shine. She is working with the new library design team and is excited about leading us in our new library. For those of us who have had the pleasure of working with LeAnn during the summer, we already feel like she is a Friend.

Plans for the new library had been put on hold due to funding issues. Charlotte County had committed $6.9 million dollars for the 20,000 square foot library to be built on land donated by the City of Punta Gorda. However, there was not enough money in the budget to design a building with an exterior that complimented the historic area. No one wanted a box store look next to the History Park. Over the summer, the City of Punta Gorda, the Charlotte Board of County Commissioners and the Friends of the Punta Gorda Library committed the additional funds needed to provide for an enhanced, functional exterior. The process of designing and building the new library is back on track.

In addition to helping with the cost of the enhanced exterior, the Friends will be paying to furnish the new and larger Bookstore. The Friends will also help with the cost of furnishings for the kids and teen areas. Further, the Friends received many generous donations in memory of Mary Knowlton, which have been set aside to commemorate and honor her life and work with children.

The Fall and Winter library programs for both children and adults are being scheduled. And, yes, Bill MacDonald will once again be hosting the Friday Evening Adult Entertainment Series at the PGI Civic Association. The Friends are proud to provide financial sponsorship for all these programs.

The 2018 Friends Annual Literary Luncheon will be held Tuesday, January 30, 2018 at the Isles Yacht Club. Our guest speaker is the New York Times Best Selling Author B.A. (Barbara) Shapiro. As a benefit of Friends membership, you will have two months to reserve your seat before the event is open to the public. This is our major fund raiser and we are sure it will be another sell out!

The Friends Board continues to work hard to support the library patrons, the staff and the community. We appreciate your support through membership, donations, grants, attendance at our Literary Luncheon and shopping at the Bookstore. Without YOU, the Friends would not be celebrating our 40th anniversary this year!

See you around the library,

Katie

It Was Busy at Our Library This Summer!

Summer months are typically a slower time in our community, but that didn't seem to apply to our library programs and services. Taking a glimpse into library statistics for this past summer listed below; they show that children, youth and adult programs were well-attended. The patrons visited the library on a regular basis to read, to check out books and media as well as to use the computers and free Wi-Fi. The Summer Reading Kickoff was attended by 230 attendees. The Kickoff set the tone for a great summer of encouraging children to read. (Pictures on Page 3). During the summer months, the children participated in Storytime programs weekly and the adults participated in craft programs, book discussions and viewed the summer movies.

One of the most popular events this summer was an Interactive Rock Painting class with over 70 adults and children participating. The purpose was to paint the rocks with happy images or phrases, hide them around town and post pictures to the Facebook group, Rocking Punta Gorda.

If you have been looking for an adult bookclub/discussion group, you might want to consider the Punta Gorda Library Book Discussion Group. It is held the fourth Thursday of the month from 4 pm to 5 pm. There are 10 copies of the book selection available to be checked out at the information desk. Update on the New Library

Last spring, many of us were concerned that funding issues were driving the design process so that the new library would look like a box store. Punta Gorda is known for its historic areas so we wanted a design that was not only functional but attractive. This summer, the Friends of the Punta Gorda Library, The City of Punta Gorda and Charlotte County came together and each made a financial commitment to the additional funding needed to fund an enhanced and functional exterior for the new library. While these architectural renderings are not the final exterior design, they do provide a look at how appealing the new library will be.

Youth and Libraries

by Greg Summers, Friends Director

Last season's articles focused on the youth experience in school and public libraries from my own childhood perspective. For this season, I would like to focus not on my own youth, but on the youth of our country and the importance of libraries from the very beginning to the preservation of our unique freedoms and form of government.

One of our Founders, John Adams, wrote, "Liberty cannot be preserved without a general knowledge among the people..." If citizens were to have the vote, and, thereby, the power to select their officials, they would need to be informed. The young country needed readers, consumers of a wide array of printed material, and reading needed to begin at a young age and continue as a lifelong habit. The Founders typically were avid readers and writers themselves, and several were noted for their personal libraries. Benjamin Franklin, for example, acquired a library that had grown to 4,276 volumes by the time of his death in 1790.

Thomas Jefferson developed an even larger library at Monticello, but later sold most of it to the government. During the War of 1812, the Library of Congress, which was housed in the U.S. Capitol at the time, lost its collection when the British burned the building in 1814. Congress replaced the 3,000 lost books with 6,487 volumes purchased from Jefferson for $23,950. Those books were chosen from the 9,000-10,000 books Jefferson had collected over 50 years, many the result of very careful shopping of every bookshop in Paris during the time of his diplomatic assignment to France. (Nearly two thirds of the Jeffersonian books were lost in another fire in 1851.) Jefferson's volumes helped the Library of Congress to broaden its scope from a narrow emphasis on law, history, and government, to many other fields, including arts, architecture, geography, etc. In addition, books in languages other than English were added to the Library for the first time.

Several other libraries have made over-sized contributions to American society from early on. Franklin and others founded The Library Company of Philadelphia in 1731. Originally a subscription membership library, it thrives today as a non-profit organization. Libraries such as the Redwood Library of Newport, Rhode Island, and the Franklin Public Library of Franklin, Massachusetts, make competing claims to be the oldest lending library in the country.

Vying for distinction as the oldest free, tax-supported library in America are the Peterborough Town Library in New Hampshire, the Scoville Memorial Library in Salisbury, Connecticut, and the Boston Public Library. The Boston library was the first to have a children's section, and it doubles as a presidential library, housing the papers of John Adams.

Although our own Punta Gorda Library only dates to 1908, it follows in a distinguished tradition of American libraries. Let's all continue to support a program that serves all ages - young, old, and in-between - in helping each person to grow as a citizen.

Summer Events

2017 Summer Reading Kick-Off

On June 3rd, the Punta Gorda Library held their Summer Reading Kick-Off. There were demonstrations by a PG Police K-9 officer and the PG Fire Department as well as visits from Luna the owl from Peace River Wildlife Center and a Lucy, a “reading” dog. The highlight of the afternoon was the storyteller, who kept adults and children alike listening and laughing. The Friends provided refreshments in the form of 100 free tickets for a hot dog, chips and soda from It’s a Hot Dog Day. It was a great success!

Library News

New Punta Gorda Library Supervisor LeAnn Beckwith

I come from a family of entrepreneurs who understand the value of hard work and responsibility. As a teenager, I took over bookkeeping for the family business, which naturally led me to the accounting field. After acquiring a job as manager of an income tax and accounting office, I decided to obtain my associates degree in accounting. My love of learning led me to continue my education, earning a bachelor's degree in business.

Around this time, I met with the former librarian from my hometown and she inspired me to continue on to library school. In 2011, I earned my Master of Library and Information Science degree with a Graduate Certificate in Information Management from Wayne State University. While obtaining my master's degree, I volunteered at two public libraries and job shadowed at an academic library. Volunteering gave me invaluable experience that I utilized to gain employment as library clerk at the Hillsdale Community Library. As clerk, I was responsible for circulation, reference, interlibrary loan, and patron computer/technology services. I created and lead instructional demonstrations, held basic computer classes, and helped patrons one-on-one with their technology needs.

After just two years of employment, I was promoted to library director, taking on funding challenges and exploring new concepts to improve library accuracy and efficiency. I was responsible for collection development and cataloging, creating and presenting the budget to the library board and the city council, staffing, purchasing and invoicing, as well as helping patrons on a daily basis.

Now in Punta Gorda, I believe the role of a librarian must continually expand to meet the informational, educational, technological, and recreational needs of the community served. I look forward to meeting those needs here in my new community.

Youth Outreach Program

Thanks to a grant from the Shively Family Foundation, in memory of Beth Shively, the Friends welcomes young adult author, Geanna Culbertson to speak to the sixth graders in the local Punta Gorda schools on October 24th.

Geanna describes her book series:

"My book series might be told from the perspective of a girl, and that girl may happen to be a princess. But the character is deeply funny, personable, strong, and relatable. The story she embarks on is filled with nail-biting action, fight scenes that have been personally tested by me (a certified black belt and martial arts instructor), and great adventure that will take you to crazy, amazing new worlds. There are also many additional main characters to supplement the story, including two male main characters that attend a school specifically designed to train heroes, and two major antagonists who are male as well. "

The Crisanta Knight Series will appeal to readers who love adventure, comedy, and fantasy, regardless of their gender.

The Friends donated classroom copies of Geanna's newest book, Crisanta Knight, Inherent Fate to the sixth grade students.
