BOOKMARK

Dear Friends,

After years of working toward and dreaming of a new library for our community, there was an official ground breaking for the new Punta Gorda Charlotte Library on May 15, 2018. I want to thank the Charlotte County Commissioners, the Community Services/Library Administration and other county staff, the Punta Gorda City Council and city staff, the Friends members and the community supporters who attended this ceremony. The other Friends Board members and I loved putting on hard hats and raising our shovels of dirt to symbolize the start of our new library.

This new library will retain the feel of a community library but will eliminate some of the problems that exist at the current location which opened in 1974. One big complaint has been the lack of parking. Too many times, especially during our busy winter season, people have said they didn't stop because there was no place to park. The new library is being built on 6.25 acres of land donated by the City of Punta Gorda. In addition to a significant larger paved parking lot, there will be overflow parking available on the property.

Another problem has been trying to schedule programing in the library since the meeting room is small and only holds 20 people comfortably. Even when we present programs in the main part of the library, we are still limited in space since normal operations for patrons continue. Our new library will have a large meeting room which will accommodate 140 people plus the speaker/performers. The room will be able to be divided into two rooms as needed. With more parking and larger meeting spaces, the Friends and the library staff are planning on providing more programs which will include author presentations, drama and musical performances, and educational programs.

The new library will also provide space to have a designated teen area. While our current library has movies, music and graphic novels that teens check out, there is no real place for them to come and spend time in the library. Lots of adults come in and use the free Wi-Fi and computers; but teens don't tend to come and stay because they don't really feel like there is a place for them. We need to make sure they do!

I have been asked what will happen to the current building when we move to the new location. I don't know. It will be up to the County Commissioners to decide on what to do with the county owned building. I have heard of several groups who have offered recommendations or made requests for the building. I am as interested as everyone else in what will happen to the building which served as our library since 1974.

Since our last issue of the BOOKMARK, Linda Busler, who served as the Friends Treasurer for over 3 years, resigned from the Board. Linda is very involved in other community activities and needed more time to focus on them. We all thank Linda for her time, commitment and talents in serving as the Friends Treasurer.

I am so proud to announce that Hank Bauman agreed to come back on the Friends Board and serve as our Treasurer once again. Hank had served in this position for many years and has been a long-time Friends member and library supporter. Although Hank is busy with other community activities; he agreed to come back and help during this exciting time.

This is a thrilling time for our library family and I look forward to seeing you around the library.

Katie

Great Libraries in World History

by Greg Summers, Friends Director

Last season, this column focused on libraries in American history. This season, I would like to take a look at great libraries in world history. First is the library of ancient Ninevah (on the Tigris River, near modern-day Mosul, Iraq). The Assyrian Empire dominated Mesopotamia from the 9th to 7th Centuries B.C. For the Assyrians, Ninevah was a great center of power and culture. For those threatened or conquered by the Assyrians, Ninevah was feared and detested. (Think of the biblical book of Jonah.)

During the reign of Ashurbanipal, the library was built. The medium for the holdings was cuneiform script etched with a stylus onto clay tablets which, when hardened, were durable. Imagine, however, how cumbersome reading from a clay tablet would be when contrasted with the modern paper and electronic formats that we moderns enjoy. The library, however, did have modern features such as housing the collection by subject in various rooms, and a cataloging system.

Much of the library's function was serving as an archive for official records, but it also housed important religious, historical, and literary documents. One work I would like to remind you of is The Epic of Gilgamesh.

This work of epic poetry gives a primeval account of Gilgamesh, king of Uruk, in ancient Sumer some 4,700 years ago. Both the Assyrians and Babylonians preserved strands of the tale of Gilgamesh. My favorite character in the Epic of Gilgamesh is Enkidu, first created by the gods to counter the powers of the abusive Gilgamesh. Enkidu began life living among wild animals and grazing with them, but later met shepherds who introduced him to cooked food and beer. Finally, he went to the city. I read the development of this character as a metaphor for the advent of civilization itself. And so I made it mandatory reading for my students when I taught 9th grade ancient and medieval history.

For a readable and delightful re-write of this Assyrian tale (appropriate for high school students and older), I recommend David Ferry's Gilgamesh: A New Rendering in English Verse, (New York: Farrar, Straus and Giroux), 1992.

Youth

Summer Reading Kick-Off

The Punta Gorda Library was “Rockin” on Saturday, June 2nd. The Punta Gorda Friends greeted patrons at the door with their summer reading bags and adult and child reading logs. They also provided complimentary lunch coupons for a free hot dog lunch with the “It’s a Hot Dog Day” hot dog vendor. We learned some cool hip hop moves with Ramon from Pure Movement Dance company. Each child got their own time to shine in the dance circle doing some “freestyle” hip hop moves. The kids were treated to balloon creations and stencil tattoos by Mary Densler and her daughter, who were gracious enough to donate their time to the library. The group Budding Hollies rocked the building with some 50’s music by the late, great Buddy Holly. The staff and volunteers got summer reading off to a “Hot Rockin’ Summer”!

City Proclamation

The City of Punta Gorda issued a proclamation to the Friends of the Punta Gorda Library declaring the week of May 13-19, 2018 as the Friends of the Punta Gorda Library Week. This proclamation coincided with the groundbreaking of the Punta Gorda Charlotte Library on May 15, 2018. The City Council honored the Friends for all their support they have provided including quality of life for the residents, betterment of the community and their promotion of and appreciation for the use of the library. The Friends were also cited for their donation of $50,000 for the new library construction.

Augmented Reality Books Have Arrived

The Punta Gorda Library is excited to present our first augmented reality books! Bugs, published by Carlton Kids, is one of the iExplore series of books that allow kids (and adults) to interact with books using a smartphone or tablet and free augmented reality apps. With the book Bugs, not only can you learn about the insects from the facts that are listed on the page, but you can make the bugs come to life! Make a wasp fly off the pages and around the room, make a butterfly land on a friend's shoulder or rotate it for a 360 degree view. In these pictures, you can see library staff had a lot of fun testing it out!
